11 PATRICIA HERNANDEZ GARCIA,
12
13 vs. Petitioner,
14 UNITED STATES OF AMERICA,
Respondent.

11cr00467-LAB/
CASE NO. 12-CV-0040-LAB
ORDER DENYING 28 U.S.C.
§ 2255 HABEAS MOTION

15
16 Patricia Hernandez Garcia is currently serving a 74-month sentence for possessing 17 cocaine and methamphetamine with the intent to distribute. Now before the Court is her
18 habeas petition brought pursuant to 28 U.S.C. § 2255, through which she seeks a sentence
19 reduction. She seeks the reduction on the ground that, due to her alien status, she is 20 ineligible for a one-year sentence reduction through a drug program, or early release into a
21 halfway house. She argues that deprivation of these benefits or privileges due to her alien
22 status violates her Fifth and Fourteenth Amendment rights to due process and equal
23 protection. This is a familiar claim that aliens make in federal habeas petitions, using what 24 appears to be a form pleading, and the Court has consistently rejected it.

25 To state an equal protection claim, a plaintiff must allege he was treated differently
26 from other similarly situated persons, see City of Cleburne v. Cleburne Living Ctr., 473 U.S.
27 432, 439 (1985), and deportable aliens are not "similarly situated" to United States citizens.
28 It is not an equal protection violation to allow United States citizen-inmates, who must re-

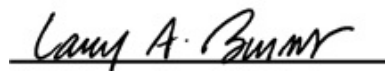

1 enter domestic society, to participate in rehabilitative or other programs while denying that
2 privilege to deportable inmates. See, e.g., Santos v. United States, 940 F.Supp. 275, 281
3 (D. Hawaii 1996) (one's status as deportable alien, which may result in ineligibility for less
4 restrictive terms of confinement, cannot justify downward departure; plaintiff failed to state
5 an equal protection claim "because deportable aliens are not 'similarly situated' to United 6 States citizens"). The Supreme Court "has firmly and repeatedly endorsed the proposition
7 that Congress may make rules as to aliens that would be unacceptable if applied to citizens."
8 Demore v. Kim, 538 U.S. 510, 521-22 (2003).

9 This Court has previously rejected the claim that an alien's ineligibility for various 10 prisoner programs or benefits violates that person's rights. See Rendon-Inzunza v. United 11 States, 2010 WL 3076271 (S.D. Cal. 2010); Lizarraga-Lopez v. United States, 89 F.Supp.2d
12 1166 (S.D. Cal. 2000). Those holdings stand. The purpose of halfway houses is to 13 facilitate the reintegration of prisoners into the community, but prisoners in Hernandez
14 Garcia's position are released first to the Attorney General and then to a foreign community.
15 Moreover, halfway houses are still custodial institutions wherein prisoners serve out their full 16 sentences, and from which deportable aliens would be a unique flight risk.

17 No due process or equal protection issue arises merely because a defendant's alien 18 status excludes him from certain programs available to citizens, within the prison system or 19 without. Accordingly, Hernandez Garcia's argument that the Court should consider her
20 request for an additional downward departure on that basis is rejected. Her habeas petition
21 is accordingly DENIED. The Court also DENIES her a certificate of appealability. See 28
22 U.S.C. § 2253(c)(2).
